Paper Stamp Cards Are Ending: Move Your Stamps to the Rice Bowl Club

Phuen Baan Chicken Rice, Bangkok and Nonthaburi · Customer Notice CN-2026-09 · Posted 1 October 2026

Phuen Baan Chicken Rice is replacing paper stamp cards at all 21 branches with the Rice Bowl Club, a free membership in the Phuen Baan app.

1. Key dates

- 30 November 2026: last day that branches add stamps to paper cards. Free plates can still be claimed with a full paper card until this date.
- 1 December 2026: purchases earn Rice Bowl Club points only.
- 31 January 2027: last day to convert paper cards into points. After this date, paper cards have no value.

2. How your stamps become points

Each stamp on a current 10-box card converts to 10 points. A card with all 10 boxes stamped converts to 120 points, which includes a 20-point bonus. Cards printed before 1 July 2026 have 12 boxes; each stamp on these older cards also converts to 10 points, but a full 12-box card converts to 150 points. In the Club, one standard plate of chicken rice costs 100 points and a large plate costs 130 points. A member can convert at most 5 paper cards in total, and points expire 12 months after they are added.

3. How to convert a card

1. Join the Rice Bowl Club in the Phuen Baan app with your mobile number.
2. Bring your paper cards to the order counter of any branch between 10:00 and 20:00.
3. Open the "My Club" screen and show your member QR code to the cashier.
4. The cashier counts the stamps, scans your QR code and punches a "C" hole in each card. Keep the card until the points appear.
5. Points appear in your account within 24 hours.

No smartphone? The cashier can register you with your mobile number and give you a plastic Club card with a printed QR code, free of charge. Torn or faded cards are accepted if the branch code next to each stamp can still be read.

Note. Stamps from the Phuen Baan kiosks at Don Mueang Airport Terminals 1 and 2 cannot be converted, because these kiosks are run by a partner company. Kiosk cards can be used for free plates at the two kiosks until 31 December 2026.
