1. Who can vote

- You must be a Thai national aged 18 or over on election day.
- Your name must have been entered in a house register inside Na Kae Lom municipality for at least one year, counted back from election day. For the 2022 municipal election the residence period was 90 days; that rule no longer applies.

2. Where to see the list

The voter list for each polling unit will be posted from 21 October 2026 at that unit's location and on the notice board outside the Municipal Office, Chayangkun Road. A full copy is also kept at Counter 4, ground floor, Municipal Office, open Monday to Friday 08:30–16:30. You may also call the voter line on 042 517 390 and give your ID card number.

3. If your name is missing or wrong

Requests to add a name, correct a spelling or remove a deceased household member are handled by Chanida Phromma, Voter Registry Officer, at Counter 4. Bring your ID card and your house register book. A household member may apply for you with a signed letter of authorisation.

- Deadline for requests: 16:30 on Thursday 5 November 2026. Requests received later cannot change the list for this election.
- The Voter Registry Officer decides each request within 3 working days and posts the result at Counter 4.
- If you disagree with the decision, you may appeal in writing within 2 days to Thawatchai Sriwan, Election Director, whose decision is final.

4. Cannot vote on 15 November?

Voters who expect to be away may register for advance voting on Sunday 8 November 2026 at the Municipal Hall, 08:00–17:00. Registration for advance voting closes on 30 October 2026.

Note. A spelling error in your name does not stop you voting if the ID card number on the list is correct. Polling staff will record the error for correction after the election.
