Incident Report: Black-and-White Pages Billed at Colour Rate after the PageLedger Update

Lanmai Workhouse Co., Ltd. · Sawan Withi Road building, Nakhon Sawan · Ref. OPS-IR-2026-07 · Issued 28 September 2026

1. Summary

From 8 to 19 September 2026, PageLedger, the print credit system used at Lanmai Workhouse, billed many black-and-white pages at the colour rate. The fault affected only jobs sent to the second-floor print queue, LW-Print-2F. The third-floor queue, LW-Print-3F, runs on a separate print server that was not updated and charged correctly throughout.

The current print prices, in force since 1 September 2026, are 1.50 baht per black-and-white A4 page and 6 baht per colour A4 page. Until 31 August 2026 the black-and-white price was 1 baht per page. On each wrongly billed page a member therefore paid 4.50 baht more than they should have. In total, 214 member accounts and 23 day-pass guests were overcharged, for a combined amount of 41,380 baht.

2. Timeline

- 7 September 2026, 23:10: the software vendor installs PageLedger version 4.2.0 on the second-floor print server during a remote maintenance window.
- 8 September, 08:42: the first black-and-white job on LW-Print-2F is billed at the colour rate.
- 15 September, 16:05: a Fixed Desk member reports at the front desk that a 40-page report cost 240 baht instead of 60 baht. The front desk logs the complaint as ticket FD-3381.
- 16 September: the Member Accounts team compares billing records with printer page counters and confirms that the fault is systematic, not a one-off.
- 17 September, 10:00: LW-Print-2F is switched to "hold and release at the printer" mode, and staff warn members by notice board and the members' chat group to print on the third floor where possible.
- 19 September, 14:30: the vendor rolls PageLedger on the second-floor server back to version 4.1.3. Test prints confirm correct billing.
- 20 September, 09:00: LW-Print-2F reopens for normal use.

3. Cause

Version 4.2.0 changed the default setting for colour detection. Before the update, PageLedger looked at the content of each page and charged colour only when a page actually contained colour. After the update, the queue fell back to "bill by driver setting". Most laptops send jobs with the driver set to "colour" by default, even when the document is black and white, so these pages were charged at 6 baht. Jobs printed from the touch screen on the printer itself, such as copies and scans to print, were not affected.

Note. No member data was exposed in this incident, and no print jobs were lost. The fault affected billing only.

4. Refunds and credits

Every overcharge will be returned in full. Members do not need to do anything unless they want a cash refund or are a day-pass guest.

- Flex Desk and Fixed Desk members: the overcharged amount is added back to the member's PageLedger balance automatically by 3 October 2026. The credit appears in the app as "Adjustment OPS-IR-2026-07".
- Private Office accounts: the amount is shown as a credit note on the October 2026 invoice, issued on 1 November 2026.
- Members whose membership ended before 30 September 2026: the amount is refunded by bank transfer to the account on file, without a claim, by 15 October 2026.
- Day-pass guests: these guests paid by card at the kiosk and have no PageLedger account. They can claim at the front desk or by email to the Member Accounts team until 31 October 2026, with the kiosk receipt or the card statement line.

Members who would rather receive cash than print credit can ask for a cash refund at the front desk until 31 October 2026. A cash refund is only possible when the overcharge on the account is more than 200 baht; smaller amounts are returned as print credit only. Cash refunds are paid by bank transfer within 10 working days of the request.

Note. Monthly print credits included in membership plans expire at the end of each month. Credits returned under this report are different: they do not expire and stay on the balance until used.

5. Responsibilities

- Narongrit Phanwet, Operations Manager, owns this report and the follow-up actions. From now on, every PageLedger or print server update must be approved by him in writing before it is installed.
- Thitima Rakdee, Member Accounts Lead, calculates each account's overcharge, issues the credits and credit notes, and decides on cash refund requests and day-pass claims.
- The front desk team logs every billing complaint as a ticket on the same day and passes it to Member Accounts within one working day.
- The Facilities Coordinator runs a test of 10 black-and-white and 5 colour pages on each queue after every update and records the result before the queue is opened to members.

6. Changes to prevent a repeat

Updates to PageLedger will only be installed on Sunday nights, and never during the last three working days of a month, when monthly invoices are prepared. The vendor must send release notes at least five working days before any update. Member Accounts will also compare PageLedger charges with printer page counters every Monday, instead of once a month as before.

Questions about this report can be sent to the Member Accounts team at the front desk on the ground floor, open Monday to Saturday from 08:30 to 18:00.
